FASHIONS

Another effort is making in Paris to introduce a simple style of dress which will present a marked contrast to the ruffled and furbelowed garments now worn The summer fashions will not be finally decided upon before the latter part of April, or the beginning of May The modistes are busy designing their sample robes, but the dresses which are to receive the seal of fashion must be accepted by the ladies whose taste in attire is considered indisputable before they are announced as à la mode When the whole season's fashions were decided by those worn by the Empress Eugenie during Easter week the matter was much simpler The garments for exportation ... it is true have been finished for some time, but every one who is at all given to shopping in Paris knows that there is a marked difference between the articles de port ... and those intended for ... of refined taste at home

Again an attempt is to be made to do away with the overskirt but it may not ... any better than it did last year For walking dresses, we think the tunic will be in as great favor as ever during the spring But house and evening dresses are mostly made with basques worn over a single skirt which is slightly puffed in the back. The tablier trimming of the front and the inevitable sash looped at the side or the back serving for further ornament

Many of the prettiest overskirts are looped only on one side, others are drawn up entirely in the back under a buckle from which fall two broad square tab ends a third style is very long in front, very plain and square shaped at the sides and is puffed a little just below the back of the waist

The Marguerite polonaise with the bones running down below the waist in corset form is again in vogue, and is always becoming to a figure slightly inclined to be stout

The depth of the trimming of the under skirt depends entirely upon the length and the manner of the looping of the tunic, the foundation not being visible at the points of looping When the polonaise is cut away it has a vest front the apron skirt is trimmed to the waist, and when the tunic is looped high at the sides or in the back, the trimming usually covers the exposed part

Kilt-plaiting remains in favor and is used in combination with scantily gathered ruffles and puffs Shirred headings to ruffles are among the newest of self-trimmings and will be specially popular for their materials Perpendicular trimmings are much worn and are put on in puffs or in flat trimmings of straight or bias bands Half over kirts are also used as a part of the shirt garniture and are usually attached to the belt of the foundation skirt These are quite irregular in form and are only effective when arranged by a very skillful hand

Jet, although not really a summer trimming will be one of the caprices of this season It is now made so light as not to be burdensome, and the fine cut beads in delicate, rather than massive patterns, will be much used on black toilettes Beaded fringes, beaded gimps, and beaded laces and insertions, are now the principal features of the trimming shops Gray lace is beaded with finely cut steel beads, and white blonde laces are sewn over with pearl, crystal, and opal tinted beads Dark blue steel buttons are worn on gray costumes and jet buttons invariably accompany jet trimmings

Among the various spring materials few of which are really new, a fabric called "crystal glacé" is particularly worthy of mention It is soft and silky in appearance and is of a texture sufficiently light to make it serviceable for the entire summer It comes in all the new tints and is specially suited for traveling costumes It has something of the soft, glossy shimmer peculiar to Irish poplins costs from fifty to seventy five cents a yard and is one of the few materials which are durable as well as cheap

Lenos pongees, challis, sicilienne, vigognes, de beges grenadines and batistes, are all seen among the lately imported goods A material which can really lay claim to novelty is a silken stuff of a semi transparent texture woven in a basket pattern and called by the various names paja (straw) Mexicaine and Americaine It comes in all colors but is prettiest in white or ecru tints It is used for polonaises over slips of silk The toile de Roubaix is a chalk like silk and wool fabric, with self-colored stripes, and Bengaline is also composed of mingled silk and wool with a fine soft diagonal surface In foulard percales, plain and imitation lace stripes are among the most popular styles Black hair stripes on a white ground are very pretty—These foulard percales can scarcely be distinguished from the foulard silks, and are appropriate for home and for morning street dresses later in the season

Two materials continue to be much used in the construction of costumes, the under dress being usually of silk, and the upper of cashmere, sicilienne, or any of the countless silk and wool textures suited for the purpose. Walking skirts are made from three to three and three-quarter yards in breadth Demi-trains are a little wider. All skirts are tied back from the front by under tapes to create the desired long and narrow appearance

In lingerie, there is a new ruff, called the Robsaut. It fits closely around the neck of a high corsage, and consists of a puff and standing ruffle, made of fine organdie muslin. A row of narrow velvet, passing through a lace heading, marks the line between the puff and the ruffle. The lower edge of the puff is finished by a plain muslin binding, which is basted inside the neck of the dress No cravat is worn with the Robsaut ruff.

The long lace jabots are still worn, and when composed of a fine quality of real lace, never fail to give an air of refinement to the most simple dress. New cravats of crepe de chine are trimmed on the edge with Valenciennes lace, and a strip of insertion above the same lace is let in about an inch above the edging. Cravat bows, intended only for the front, are made up in a similar manner—Black lace, and insertion, are also used for the ends of cravats A new, and very pretty tie is made of a "sheer" white muslin, bordered on the ends by three narrow rows of blue bands of colored silk An entirely white cravat sometimes produces an unpleasant ghastly effect. This little introduction of a color is therefore very becoming, and at the same time the charming freshness of a white cravat is retained.

Deep lace cuffs are again worn over tight sleeves but to be really elegant, none but those of rare point, honiton or fine Mechlin, must be used. The close sleeve must fit well down to the hand, and the cuff should be from four to six inches in depth

Parasols and umbrellas both come with rather short handles, as the long handle is inconvenient to attach to the side. The handles are rather thick, but the eccentric club shapes of last season have entirely disappeared.

The great variety of tints is the only noticeable thing in the latest importations of gloves. Every shade of dress goods can now be matched in gloves. The quiet, neutral tints, in soft grays and subdued wood colors, will be worn for the street, when it is not desirable to attract the attention.

Walking boots are ... The toes are ... and the heels are ... the dress boots are made with side lacings, but the buttoned boots are usually preferred for their greater convenience Slippers retain the "Marie Antoinette" shape The "Newport" tie shows no change from last season Low slippers of gray linen are shown for summer use and will be found to be very comfortable during the hot weather

TUESDAY, APRIL 7, 1874.

THE BOSTON PROTEST.

Our despatches have already given a general report of the proceedings at the great mass meeting of merchants and other citizens in Faneuil Hall, Saturday night, to protest against the inflation of the currency and appeal to the Executive to protect the national finances. The meeting was notable in its numbers, the character of the assemblage, and the earnestness and power of the speeches and resolutions. We make some extracts from the remarks of the principal speakers which will be read with interest as expressing the sentiments not of Boston only but of New England. Hon. Wm. Gray, the presiding officer, on taking the chair delivered a strong address, concluding with the following eloquent appeal:

We appeal to the President to uphold the public faith. Vicksburg is not and will not be forgotten, and he who led our troops to victory can protect us from defeat; and we confidently rely on him to exercise his constitutional veto to preserve us from the threatened calamity of an unlimited issue of irredeemable paper money. We appeal to the people of the country, who hold in their own hands in a large measure its future destiny. We appeal alike to the North and the South, the East and the West, to keep inviolate the public faith. We will write upon our banners, never to be erased, "The public faith; it must and shall be preserved."

The following extracts are taken from the speech of Hon. Edward Atkinson:

It is a slander upon the great and populous West to say that it is a unit for inflation. At every convention of every kind, and at every Board of Trade meeting, the most urgent and the boldest advocates of specie payment have been from the West, and they will soon be heard from. Meetings are being held in their great cities and presently you will see the men of all parties there uniting and co-operating with us in the demand that Congress shall remove the legal obstacle, except for which all our transactions since have been upon the honest basis of specie payment. * * * Our only hope for the moment is in the President of the United States. Never before had any man a greater opportunity to prove his fitness for the high civil position to which he has been elected. Let him but be true to the pledges made, by him and for him, as he cannot fail to be, and he will then have proved himself equal in the civil emergency, as he proved equal in the darkest hours of the war to the danger then threatening us.

H. P. Kidder, Esq., of Kidder, Peabody & Co., entered his protest against the threatened inflation.

If we wish to hold our position as one of the great commercial powers of the world we must at the earliest practicable moment return to the specie basis adopted by all nations. Our present position is one of great mortification, and we ask that the pledge of resumption made by the President, by Congress, and by both political parties be fulfilled. If the example of the past is of any worth the only road to the position we should occupy of unsullied honor and credit is by an early return to specie payments, and every dollar we add to the already too large amount of paper currency will drift us farther away from the desired goal. We would not be understood as thinking we can return instantly to specie payments, but we can take the steps that will lead us there by gradual but sure approaches within two or three years. But he feared few present would see the day if the proposed addition is made to the volume of currency existing before the panic of last autumn. By inflation a thousand will be harmed for one who will receive benefit. The mere talk has again unsettled values more than the contemplated increase, and he believed that inflation would lead to inevitable disaster in which all must share.

Henry Lee, of Lee, Higginson & Co., bankers, said

I ask those who stood faithfully by their country in one great crisis to stand faithfully by her in another equally momentous. The evil consequences of inflation fall upon the Western farmer, the Southern planter, the mill operatives and the laborer everywhere. Congress seems to be swayed by quacks and demagogues. Let us hope that the soldier who sits in the chair of Washington will be as indifferent to the appeals of these ignorant and designing politicians as he was to the clamors of the impatient people crying "On to Richmond." May he outflank them as he did Lee on the Rapidan. May he exercise that shrewd common sense that carried him triumphant into Vicksburg, and veto all bills tending to inflate the already redundant currency, or to unnecessarily postpone the day of resumption of specie payments.

The effect of inflation upon the condition of the workingmen was thus set forth by E. B. Haskell, of the Boston Herald:

The working-men are more vitally interested than any other class in having a sound currency. The speculator favors inflation because he lives upon the fluctuation of price. Capital, rather than more currency, is needed in the West and South. Irredeemable paper money is the most expensive currency, and no true prosperity can result from it. The proposed legislation of Congress still further debasing the currency in a time of profound peace, is a defiance of every law of political economy and morality. It will rob the working-man of a part of every dollar that he earns, and this outrage, wholly without excuse, will be committed unless the voice of the people is heard against it in a tone that will command attention.

THE MAINE SUPERVISORSHIP. The Calais Times, edited by a son of ex-Collector Whidden, has been exceedingly savage against Hon. Eugene Hale since the recent change in the Custom House, and in a late article in reply to the Portland Press made some queer statements with reference to the recent nomination of Supervisor of Internal Revenue. It published letters from some person in Washington stating that after the withdrawal of Mr. Manley's name, Mr. Hale induced the two Senators and part of the delegation to recommend the appointment of C. K. Whidden; but that Mr. Frye sharply told Mr. Hale that the causes for which he urged his removal as Collector afforded equally strong objection to his appointment as Supervisor, and that the subject was dropped, etc. The Boston Journal of Monday contains the following special from its Washington correspondent "Perley":

The reports in the Maine papers that Senators Hamlin and Morrill, with a part of the Maine delegation, had some time since signed a recommendation in favor of the appointment of Charles R. Whidden as Supervisor of Internal Revenue, are absolutely untrue. No such recommendation was ever made. Mr. Hale never requested any of his colleagues to sign such a paper, and the reported conversation between Representatives Hale and Frye in regard to Whidden are pure inventions of the imagination. The whole Maine delegation cordially united in recommending Gen. Sewall. This despatch is based on the most competent authority, and is undeniably accurate."

"Toby Candor" telegraphs the Boston Journal as follows:

It is highly probable that the next fair of the State Agricultural Society will be holden at Lewiston, instead of Bangor. The Trustees have the matter under consideration, and it will be decided at an early date. There is a prospect of the Society holding its fair in connection with the fair of the New England Society, which this year is to take place in Maine.

We trust that this intimation will prove incorrect, as the Society has fine accommodations ready for use in this city. We know that there has been a strong disposition in the Board to unite the State and New England Fairs at Bangor this fall, and if this purpose has been changed the public can ascribe it to the unhandsome treatment of the Society in the withholding of the [illegible] ised by the city.

We find the following in that old [illegible] Democratic newspaper, the [illegible] "Says the World: 'The Democratic doctrine that Congress cannot legalize [illegible] gold and silver as money of payment [illegible] dismissed at last in the judgment [illegible] that party's enemies.' That may be, but [illegible] tainly is not vindicated in the judgment of that party's representatives and leaders, since more than two-thirds of them in the House of Representatives at Washington have just voted to make paper a legal tender, and that too in time of peace, when it is impossible to urge the plea of necessity."

THE BALANCE OF TRADE.

The footings of our foreign trade for the last year are very encouraging. As the figures are usually given, what is called "the balance of trade" is not, indeed, in our favor, whereas if the same system of accounts were applied both to our exports and our imports, the former would exceed the latter for the year 1873 by $289,331. The true progress in this respect is shown by the contrast with the year 1872, when (the valuation methods on both sides the water being also equalized) the imports exceeded the exports by $108,473,713. In every point of view the same improvement appears. Thus the imports for 1863 were in round numbers $625,000,000, against more than $677,000,000 in 1872; while the domestic exports for 1873 were over $600,000,000 against $544,000,000 for 1872. It will be seen, therefore, that the exports have greatly increased and the imports have fallen off, thus showing that we have made decided progress toward living within our means. It is worth while observing that this progress has in the main corresponded with our apparent advance toward specie payments, although other influences, like that of the panic, have unquestionably had much to do with the result. It would be great folly, therefore, to reverse the salutary tendencies of the last two years, and by watering the currency and reviving speculation, bring on a renewed inundation of imports and an increase of the expenses of our producing classes. Better keep right along toward soundness and solvency. Coinciding with the above gratifying exhibit is the progress shown in our shipping business, inasmuch as 1400 more vessels have entered our ports in 1873 than during the previous year, while there was a like number of clearances in excess of those of 1872.—Boston Journal.

A correspondent of the Boston Traveller at Bath says that from forty to fifty sail of vessels will probably be built there and in the neighborhood during the season. Among these he says five or six large ships and nine or ten schooners will be built at Bath.

The Washington correspondent of the Springfield Union is authority for the assertion that the Washington memorialists have decided to abandon their charges of corruption against Governor Shepherd and his associates of the District government, being convinced that they will be unable to substantiate them. They will now devote their attention to the other charges which are of recklessness in changing grades and paving streets, and in favoring certain contractors.

Some days ago James Redpath wrote a letter to the Boston Globe accusing Judge Hoar of want of sympathy with the civil rights bill and asserting that Sumner's dying words to that gentleman were rather an attempt to convert an enemy to the bill than a legacy of that bill to his care. Hon. J. M. S. Williams has since telegraphed that he had the assurance of Mr. Sumner shortly before his death and has had that of Mr. Hoar since, that they were heartily in accord in favor of the civil rights bill. To this Redpath replies by citing Wendell Phillips as his authority, and the latter has published a letter affirming that in an interview eight days before Mr. Sumner's death the latter expressed much anxiety because Judge Hoar had doubted the Constitutionality of the bill.

CUBA. Several banks at Havana refuse to receive American gold at five per cent. premium, as ordered by the Government. The refusal will keep specie away from the island and increase the depreciation of the currency, momentarily arrested by heavy arrivals of American gold. It is decided that telegraph operators are subject to the rigors of military ordinance while the present state of siege lasts, the same as soldiers, but will grade and receive pay as officers. General Concha, the new Captain General, has arrived at Porto Rico.

The Washington correspondent of the Troy Times says that he has taken pains to ascertain the position of the President on the currency question, and believes that he has got at the truth. Grant is opposed to inflation and greatly desires to see the day for specie resumption fixed. But he will not interpose a veto, except in a clear case of increase of legal tenders, and then it will be, if such a contingency arises, on the ground of doubtful constitutionality, and further, because in his opinion a new issue of legal-tender notes in time of peace would be a great national calamity.

The N. Y. Post inquires whether the recent printing by the Treasury Department of ten cent notes which can hardly be distinguished in appearance from fifty cent notes was a gentle measure of inflation?

Virginia and Maryland are still quarrelling about their boundary line. It involves the possession of the Potomac, with its riparian rights, and of about three hundred and fifty square miles of land, part of which is now immensely valuable on account of the oyster harvest. Maryland has now sent a commission to the Virginia Legislature, proposing to refer the case to a board of arbitrators, and names to represent her Judge Jere Black. Virginia wants to bring suit before the Supreme Court, but has not rejected as yet the offer to arbitrate.

A London letter says that it is believed that on the occasion of the introduction of the budget Mr. Gladstone will make a grand speech, in which he will defend the whole course of the late Government and show the various benefits bestowed on the country by their measures, and will then take his departure for Italy, and it is possible that the House of Commons may not see him again this session.

THE EASTERN AND BOSTON AND MAINE ARRANGEMENT. The Boston Advertiser reports that the much talked of agreement between the managers of the above named railroads, which was signed and delivered Saturday, provides that an executive committee of three from each board shall take charge of all competing business at the stations of Somerville, Malden, Danvers, Lawrence, Newburyport, Great Falls, Dover, Salmon Falls, Rochester, Wolfeborough, North Berwick, South Berwick, Saco, Biddeford and Portland. Sixty per cent. of all receipts on each road will be reserved by the roads receiving them, and the balance of forty per cent. will be placed in a fund, to be equally divided between the roads. The agreement takes effect May 1, and the changes in running trains and other minor affairs will take place a month later. The immediate effect will be the raising of freight and passenger tariffs, the Eastern having already done so from Danvers. This the people have so denounced that a [illegible] will run daily from Danvers to Salem. The contract does not affect business east of Portland, and the [illegible] for Lewiston business will probably, after next September, be as active as ever as between Portland and Boston. DOMESTIC NEWS.

FORTY-THIRD CONGRESS.

First Session.

SENATE.

WASHINGTON, April 6.

[illegible] Johnston introduced a bill giving jurisdiction to the Court of Claims to hear the claim of G. W. Custis Lee to the Arlington estate. Referred to the Judiciary Committee.

A petition accompanied the bill in which the petitioners say that the property was devised to him by his grandfather, and that the title [of] the Government to the property is defective. He, however, recognizes the sacred [illegible] thinks that he should be com[pensated] for his right.

Mr. West introduced a bill amendatory [illegible] to limit the liability of ship owners. [Ref]erred to the Committee on Commerce. [illegible] provides that the non-liability clause [of the] act of March 3d, 1851, shall apply to all [illegible] steamboats and other crafts engaged [in inl]and navigation.

The Louisville & Portland Canal bill was referred to the Finance Committee.

The bill for the redemption and reissue of [illegible] notes and for free banking was then [taken up], the question being on motion of [Mr.] Merrimon of North Carolina to strike out [illegible] with the exception of the first [and second] sections. As amended these sections fix the amount of U. S. notes at $400,000,000, and provide for the issue of $46,000,000 additional national bank circulation.

Mr. Sherman said the effect would be to strike out the fifth and sixth sections of the [bill] as reported by the committee, and they [h]ad been unanimously agreed upon by this committee. To strike out the fifth and sixth section would be by inference to authorize an increase of the public debt.

Mr. Scott moved as an amendment to the [illegible] authorizing an increase of $46,000,000 of National bank currency the following: "And each national banking association now organized or hereafter to be organized, shall keep and maintain as a part of its reserve [illegible] by law one fourth part of the coin received by it as interest on bonds of the United States deposited as security for circulating [notes] or Government deposits, and that [illegible] only one-fourth of the reserve now [requi]red by law for the national banking associations shall consist of balances due to an association available for the redemption of its circulation, notes from associations in [cities] of redemption, and upon which balances no interest shall be paid. The amendment was accepted by Mr. Merrimon.

Mr. Morrill, of Vt., offered as an amendment to the first section—the following: "Provided no part of the increase of U. S. notes hereby authorized shall be held to place directly or indirectly any money in the U. S. treasury which may or can be held for any further appropriation." Rejected. Yeas 22, nays 31.

Mr. Bayard offered as an additional section the following: "That the tax of 10 per cent. [now] imposed by law upon the notes of State banks or State banking associations be, and the same is, hereby repealed." Rejected. Yeas 12, nays 39.

[Su]bstitutes for the bill as agreed upon in [Co]mmittee of the Whole were offered by Messrs. Sherman and Schurz, that of the former being rejected, and the latter's the Chair ruled was not before the Senate.

The amendments made in Committee of the Whole were then concurred in without a division, the question being shall the bill be read a third time and passed.

Messrs. Conkling, Stewart, Anthony, Thurman, Sargent, Schurz and others spoke [agai]nst the passage of the bill.

The bill was then read a third time and passed.

Yeas—Allison, Bogy, Boreman, Cameron, Carpenter, Clayton, Dorsey, Ferry of Mich., Goldthwaite, Harvey, Hitchcock, Ingalls, Johnston, Lewis, Logan, McCreery, Merrimon, Morton, Norwood, Oglesby, Patterson, Pease, Pratt, Ramsey, Robertson, Spencer, [Tipt]on, West and Windom—29.

Nays—Anthony, Chandler, Conkling, Cooper, Cragin, Davis, Fenton, Frelinghuysen, Hager, Hamilton of Ind., Hamilton of Texas, Hamlin, Howe, Jones, Kelly, Morrill of Vt., Sargent, Saulsbury, Schurz, Scott, Sherman, Stewart, Thurman and Wadleigh—24.

Gordon, Brownlow, Mitchell, Sprague, Conover, Ransom, and Wright, who would have voted for the bill were paired with Bayard, Flannagan, Boutwell, Morrill of Maine, Stevenson, Stockton and Edmunds, who would have voted against the bill.

The bill as passed reads as follows: That the maximum amount of U. S. notes is hereby fixed at $400,000,000.

Section 2d, that $46,000,000 in notes for circulation in addition to such circulation now allowed by law shall be issued to the National Banking Associations now organized and which may be organized hereafter, and such circulation shall be distributed among the several States, as provided in section one of the act entitled an act to provide for redemption of the 3 per cent. temporary loan certificates and for an increase of National Bank notes approved July 12, 1870, and each National Banking Association now organized or hereafter to be organized, shall keep and maintain as a part of its reserve required by law, one-fourth part of the coin received by it as interest on bonds of the United States deposited as security for circulating notes or Government deposits, and that hereafter only one-fourth of the reserve now prescribed by law for National Banking Associations, shall consist of balances due to an association available for the redemption of its circulating notes from associations in cities of redemption and upon which balances no interest shall be paid.

Mr. Anthony moved that the first bill on the calendar, being that for relief of Lewis Ashbury Dickens, be taken up so as to be unfinished business to-morrow. Agreed to, and the Senate at 6.50 adjourned.

HOUSE.

Under a call of the States many bills, none of which were of general interest, were reported and referred.

Mr. Kasson, of Iowa, from the Ways and Means Committee, asked leave to report back the Senate bill in relation to Customs duties on imported fruits with an amendment adding the following proviso to the Senate amendment: "Provided that duties imposed by virtue of this amendment shall be levied or collected on fruits entered for consumption at any port prior to July 1, 1874."

The question giving rise to a debate, Mr. Kasson withdrew the bill as he had no right to the floor.

The Senate bill extending to the 31st of December, 1878, the time for completing the Central Railroad of Wisconsin was passed.

The bill donating 640 acres of the Fort Steilacoom military reservation for an Insane Asylum in Washington Territory was passed.

Mr. Crossland from the Committee on Elections made a report on the Kentucky contested election case, that Young, the sitting member, was entitled to the seat.

Mr. Butler, of Mass., moved that the bill to suspend impeached officers be made a special order for Tuesday of next week. Agreed to.

Mr. Maynard, of Tenn., Chairman of the Committee on Banking and Currency, gave notice that he would move the previous question on the currency bill at the close of the discussion to morrow.

The House at 4.55 adjourned.

WASHINGTON.

INFLATIONISTS ALARMED—RUMORS OF A VETO.

NEW YORK, April 6. The Tribune's Washington special says that it is generally believed that Senators Morton and Logan received an intimation in an interview last week with President Grant that he would not sign any bill providing for expansion to any extent, and it was rumored last night that the $800,000,000 scheme may yet be defeated by a combination led by Mr. Sherman and supported by other administration Senators, not the firm hard money men, nor yet the earnest inflationists. These men are understood to have under consideration the proposition giving more paper money but one which will not incur a veto.

Per contra, the Herald's Washington advices represent that the President will sign the bill now under consideration.

WHAT SECRETARY RICHARDSON SAYS OF HIS RESIGNATION.

WASHINGTON, April 6. With reference to the reports in circulation that Secretary Richardson intends to resign, that gentleman to-day said that, whatever may be his intention in this respect, he has communicated with no one and that, whenever he does make up his mind to retire from the Treasury Department, he will take care that it is immediately made public; that the present rumor grew out of the well known fact that he has been pressed for two or three years to go into private business. Mr. Richardson said that the President has never communicated with him upon the subject of his retirement from the Treasury.

THE DISTRICT INVESTIGATION.

The District Investigating Committee heard evidence to-day showing that while both sides of Massachusetts Avenue were assessed for improvements only one side was improved. W. A. Cooke, attorney for the District, testified that a check for $4,000 was sent to him and Mr. Broome jointly by Contractor Strong but they declined it and it was never paid.

THE SPECIALS RENEW THE REPORTS.

NEW YORK, April 6. Washington specials renew the reports that Secretary Richardson will resign at an early day. In case Secretary Delano should succeed him, General Bristow, of Kentucky, and not Hon. Eugene Hale, of Maine, would probably be nominated Secretary of the Interior.

The Times says editorially that if he does, he will be accompanied by Mr. Sawyer, and Mr. Banfield should join in the retiring party. The President says that Secretary Richardson will retire voluntarily, if at all.

THE TAX PAYERS OF SOUTH CAROLINA—HEARING BEFORE THE SUB COMMITTEE.

WASHINGTON, April 6. Messrs. Tremaine, White and Eldridge, as a sub-committee of the House Committee on Judiciary, to-day heard the committee of the South Carolina Tax-payers' Convention. All the gentlemen made speeches, arguing that Congressional action can properly be taken under the clause of the Constitution guaranteeing protection of persons and property and asserting furthermore that the Federal Government will sooner or later be called upon to interfere in some way because the tax-payers of that State will soon refuse to pay taxes or recognize the State Government and thus matters will be brought to a crisis which the national Government must meet. The Committee to oppose the movement will be heard Wednesday.

SNOW STORM.

CONCORD, N. H., April 6. About five inches of snow fell here last night. Between six and eight inches are reported at Plymouth.

LACONIA, N. H., April 6. Six inches of snow fell here last night.

NEW YORK CITY.

TWEED'S PRISON LIFE.

NEW YORK, April 6. Police Commissioner Stern asserts in defence of himself that so far from Tweed being placed in the most unguarded part of his prison, he is placed in the safest and most strictly guarded portion, where twenty-two keepers are constantly on guard. He did not think it necessary to make a complete martyr of Tweed or exercise any unnecessary severity and will satisfactorily explain his action at a proper time.

A SECRETARY'S STATEMENT.

Foster Dewey, Tweed's secretary, asserts that he has been unable to dress himself, has been under medical treatment for ten years, and if subjected to all the rigor of prison discipline would live but a short time. Furthermore, owing to his great bulk and weight he could not be confined in one of the ordinary cells.

WHAT THE BOSS SAYS.

Tweed himself says he has performed all the work encumbent upon him as a hospital attendant. While he is more favored than others, he would not escape if he could; and is hopeful that his counsel will be able to effect his release. He complains of great physical prostration, and believes himself a fit subject for the hospital.

WHAT THE TIMES SAYS OF THE EX-BOSS.

The Times says he himself paid out money robbed from the city for the royal appointments of his apartment, and says editorially that he still has political influence, and as he holds the fate of scores of prominent men in his hands, it was never very probable that he would be left to pine away in solitude. If he believed there was no hope of escape he would undoubtedly open his little budget of secrets. Tweed was yesterday visited by over 100 prominent politicians and personal friends.

STEAMER HEARD FROM.

The over due steamer Merrimac, from Rio Janeiro and intermediate points, concerning whose safety there has been much anxiety, is coming up the bay this morning.

DR. CUYLER ON MODERATE DRINKING.

Dr. Cuyler in his reply sermon, last night, to Dr. Howard, argued that moderate drinking, so far from being better than total abstinence, led ultimately to the intemperance which curses the nation. He added "The devil always likes to quote ministers of the Gospel."

DIED.

Judge John Worth Edmonds died here yesterday, aged 75 years. He was well known as a Supreme Court Judge of this State, and for his connection with Spiritualism.

VARIOUS MATTERS.

The Gilbert library was formally opened in the Tombs yesterday.

Numerous temperance gatherings were held in New York and vicinity yesterday.

Maria Kelly, frightened during an angry dispute with her brother, jumped from the second story window to the pavement, and was fatally injured.

Rev. T. T. Kendrick preached at the Grand st. Methodist church, yesterday, in spite of the efforts of his congregation to oust him from the pulpit. He expressed a determination to stick.

After a protracted spree John Van Nest, a Jersey City bar tender, put an end to his miserable existence this morning with a bullet through his brain.

Olton Hildebrant, a brakeman was caught between the cars at Bergen Tunnel yesterday and literally cut into mince meat.

Allan Barton, ex-Minister to Bogota was was thrown from a horse car yesterday, and had his shoulder dislocated.

At midnight a fire in Powers' block, corner Fulton and De Kalb Avenues, Brooklyn, damaged the building and stock of [illegible] to the extent of $20,000, on which there is a partial insurance.

A letter from Salt Lake City, dated March 20th, asserts that Brigham Young, in anticipation of his final overthrow, is getting his property well in hand preparatory to his departure.

Ann Glenn, clothing taking fire while waiting on customers [illegible] in her candy store on Perry [street], ran screaming through the streets and a policeman followed and enveloped her in blankets, not, however, before she was fatally burned.

NEW JERSEY.

STORE BURNED.

PATERSON, N. Y., April 6. Sunday morning the store connected with Hewitt's Iron Works at Kingwood, was burned. Loss $11,000. There was a hall over the store occupied as a church, and preparations had been made for Easter celebration.

THE TEMPERANCE CRUSADE.

THE METHODIST CLERGYMEN OF BOSTON ON THE WOMAN'S CRUSADE.

BOSTON, April 6. At the monthly meeting of Methodist ministers of Boston and vicinity in Wesleyan Hall to-day, strong prohibitory resolutions were adopted, including the following:

Resolved, That in the woman's crusade against intemperance, whereby it is stated by one who professes to have carefully counted up the results thus far that 37 cities and towns have been entirely freed from the liquor traffic, 1781 liquor saloons in Ohio, Indiana and Illinois closed, and 800 liquor sellers not only reformed, but hopefully converted to God, we recognize God's work, and can but give to it our fullest sympathy and pledge it all possible co operation. Woman, patient, long-suffering woman, girded with the omnipotence of prayer and faith and human sympathy has taken the field at last against the demon from whom she has endured so much, and the Almighty Lord is giving her the victory; and shame on the man who can stand by in a spirit of indifference or captious criticism and refuse to give her his countenance and support in her glorious work.

THE CONNECTICUT ELECTION.

A LIGHT VOTE ANTICIPATED.

HARTFORD, Ct., April 6—2.30 P. M. It is impossible to give anything definite about the election. The weather and travelling has been very good, but the vote will not be heavy. There have been no meetings and but little excitement in the campaign calculated to call out a large vote in this city. It is probable that the Democratic majority here will be from 400 to 500 for Governor, but there is a chance of electing a Republican Mayor.

THE PROHIBITION VOTE

In this State will be much larger than last year. Advices to-day show that they are working hard in several localities. It is generally thought that there will be no election of Governor by the people.

If the Republicans fail to carry the Legislature it will be owing to the running of third party candidates by the prohibitionists. Norwich promises two hundred and fifty Republican majority.

THE STATE PROBABLY DEMOCRATIC.

HARTFORD, April 6—9.15 P. M. Fifty-five towns give Harrison 10,272; Ingersoll 11,905; Smith 1,445. Hartford gives Harrison 2,880, Ingersoll 4,087; Smith 124. Johnson (dem.) is elected in the 2d district by 322 plurality; Pond (dem.) is elected in the 1st district by 1,848 plurality. The State is probably Democratic, State ticket, Legislature and everything.

THE VOTE OF HARTFORD COUNTY.

Hartford County complete gives 10 Republicans and 24 Democrats in the House, being a gain of 5 and a loss of 5, leaving the vote the same as last year. The 17th Senatorial district gives Ensign 793 and Edwards 1,659, Norfolk to hear from. The 20th Senatorial district complete elects Marcy (dem.) by 104 plurality. Steel's (dem.) majority is 41, with Barkhamsted and Morris to hear from.

LATER RETURNS.

HARTFORD, Conn., April 6—(11 P. M.)—Hartford county complete gives Harrison 3,371; Ingersoll 10,727; Smith 1,038.

NORWICH, Conn., April 6. New London county complete gives Harrison 4,749; Ingersoll 4,098; Smith 607.

Windham county—Harrison 2,710; Ingersoll 2,329; Smith 331.

LATEST—THE RESULT.

HARTFORD, April 7—1.30 A. M. Returns to the Courant from all the towns in the State, except seven, give the following result:—

Ingersoll,	45,530
Harrison,	39,292
Smith,	4,504

The Senate will stand—Democrats 14, Republicans 7, a Democratic gain of 4. In the House the Democrats will have about 30 majority.

MASSACHUSETTS.

ELEVENTH BALLOT FOR SENATOR.

BOSTON, April 6. The eleventh ballot for U. S. Senator resulted as follows:

THE BRIGHTON BANK IN TROUBLE.

The affairs of the National Bank of Brighton are undergoing examination, which has been in progress about a week, and has thus far resulted in the discovery that funds of the institution have been misappropriated by one of the officials to the extent of from $70,000 to $100,000. The sum drawn from the bank is understood to have been used in the purchase of real estate in Brighton, Watertown and Newton, and has been made good by the surrender of property to the bank.

CALIFORNIA.

JEALOUSY, MURDER AND SUICIDE.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 6. Yesterday afternoon one Condon, prompted, it is supposed by jealousy, entered the New York picture gallery and shot Charles Kingsley through the head, killing him instantly. He then blew his own brains out. Kingsley had been an usher in one of the theatres here.

THE WEATHER.

WAR DEPARTMENT,
OFFICE OF THE CHIEF SIGNAL OFFICER,
WASHINGTON, April 7—1 A. M.

PROBABILITIES.

For New England, partly cloudy weather will prevail, with winds shifting to westerly, and possibly easterly, and rain at night.

GREAT BRITAIN.

PROF. GOLDWIN ON "HOME RULE."

LONDON, April 26. Professor Goldwin Smith has a long letter in the News on "Home Rule." He advocates in general the improvement of local institutions and giving to them legislative powers for the administration of local affairs similar to those of the Legislatures of American States.

SAN DOMINGO.

PROPOSED TREATY WITH HAYTI.

NEW YORK, April 6. The Tybee brings San Domingo advices to the 30th ult. The British Consul General, St. John, at Port au Prince, had made a tour of observation of Samana Bay and subsequently visited Santo Domingo with propositions from the Haytien Government for a treaty between the two Republics. Among of the proposed treaty, it is said, are the cession to Hayti of the disputed territory in the frontier and the amendment of the Samana Bay convention made with the citizens of the United States. These conditions being admitted by the Dominican Government, Hayti or England was to loan a considerable sum to Santo Domingo, payable at convenience and without interest. The discussion of the measure was causing great excitement throughout the island.

President elect Gonzales had not yet been installed in office as the Convention called for framing a new constitution were still unable to agree upon the articles thereof.

THE CONVENTION ABROGATED—EFFECT UPON THE OFFICERS.

The Dominican Government having declared the convention between the Government and the Samana Bay Company null and void, the officers of that company, including Dr. Howe, have protested against this decision and will call upon the United States Government for protection. Dr. Howe and wife remain at Samana, but the other officers of the Company have returned to the United States. Several [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the [illegible] [illegible]

SEAL KILLED. Mr. Isaac Young of Winterport one day last week discovered a large female seal in a pond in the rear of Sterns' mill on the Hampden road, and after a hard fight, in which the creature made a desperate resistance, he succeeded in killing her with a club. The seal was about six and one-half feet long, weighed 650 lbs., and made ten gallons of oil. How she came to be so far away from the river is not known, but it proved an unlucky trip into the country for her.

THE EASTER MONDAY BALL, given in City Hall last evening under the auspices of the Hibernian Mutual Benevolent Society, was a very successful affair. The hall was elegantly decorated with flags and bunting, and presented an exceedingly attractive appearance. There was a large attendance, the floor being covered with dancers and the galleries filled with spectators. Oakes' quadrille band furnished good music and the long programme of dances was not finished until a late hour.

SONS OF TEMPERANCE INSTALLATION. At a meeting of Holden Division, No. 11, Sons of Temperance, at Holden last Saturday evening, the following officers were installed by D. G. W. P. Wm. B. Ward of East Eddington:—J H Comins, W P; L N Shepherd, W A; Miss M A Hart, R S; M M Phillips, A R S; Miss M J Pond, F S; R N B Hart, T; Mrs S A Winchester, Chap; J H Griffin, C; Fred Rowe, A C; A S Hart, I S; G W Phillips, O S. The Division has 120 members and is in a very prosperous condition.

NEW DRUG STORE. Mr. W. [illegible] who recently purchased [illegible] [illegible] force of workmen [illegible] feet, have been [illegible] repaired and renovated, and may fairly be regarded as good as new. The basement is used for storing [illegible], varnish, and other heavy goods, the first floor has been remodeled and divided into wholesale and retail departments, in the latter of which is a handsome new prescription counter, the second floor [illegible] for storing open packages, the third for manufacturing—Mr. Mann having become proprietor of Warren's [illegible] and [illegible], which he will manufacture in addition to tinctures, extracts, etc., and in the fourth story are stored bottles, glass goods, etc. Mr. Mann has removed to this store the stock he had in the former stand in West Market square and this combined with the stock purchased of Mr. Bradbury and new goods just purchased in New York, gives him now the largest stock this side of Portland.

THEATRE COMIQUE. An entirely new bill was presented at the Theatre Comique last evening and the audience was larger than on Friday and Saturday evenings. The entertainment opened with the farce, The Spoiled Boy, and it was well carried out, Thompson and Walters showing themselves able to keep the house in a roar. Ned Mason, whose natural comic talents are brought into requisition, amused the audience with his old "Crambus." Miss De Forrest is a charming singer and never fails to receive an encore, and Little Joe continues to be a favorite. The drama, The Young Fenian, or the Patriots of '98, will be better received than it was last evening with a little attention from some of the actors. It has diversity of scene and character enough to make it a favorite [illegible] Mason, Miss De Forrest, Woodland [illegible] Walters [illegible] The Theatre Comique will become a popular place to spend an evening and will doubtless [illegible] [illegible]

Mr. F. C. [illegible] of Orrington, thought one of the great advantages of keeping sheep was the improvement in the farms on which they run. [illegible] the best to [illegible] a cross between the Leicester and [illegible] Merino.

Maj. W. H. Mills, who was [illegible] that he was not a farmer, but expressed his interest in the discussions of the Clubs as they were eminently practical. He thought if he were to live his life over again he should be a farmer from choice. He wished the clubs every success.

Mr. [illegible] of Glenburn thought his sheep paid as well as any stock he kept, but he had not experimented enough to know what breed is the best for this locality.

Mr. Luce expressed his belief that raising good mutton for the Bangor market pays well. He thought the Southdowns made the best mutton, and if he could not get them he should get a high grade—the higher the better. A good flock of Southdowns will average fifty per cent. more lambs than the common breed, which is a great item in their favor.

The next meeting of the Club will be held at the Porch House in Glenburn to-morrow, at 10 o'clock A. M. The following subjects will be discussed:—

Resolved, That Maine offers better inducements to young men for farming than the Western States.

Resolved, That the State College of Agriculture is of sufficient benefit to the farmers to be endowed with a liberal hand by the State.

MOUNT HOPE CEMETERY CORPORATION. The annual meeting of the members of the Mount Hope Cemetery Corporation was held yesterday afternoon at the office of Hon. A. W. Paine, and after hearing and accepting the annual reports, the following officers were elected:—President, S. P. Bradbury; Secretary, John Bright; Treasurer, Albert W. Paine; Executive Committe, J. S. Wheelwright, Arad Thompson, Moses Giddings, Charles Hayward and John E. Godfrey. From the report of the Treasurer we learn that the receipts during the year were $2,802 81, which added to the balance from the previous year, $107 27, makes a total of $2,910 08. The expenses were $1,908 05; amount deposited in Savings Bank, $712 81; cash in Treasury, $220 22; total, $2,910 08. The cash assets of the corporation are $5,233 45.

By a provision in the charter the Corporation is enabled to receive and hold in trust any sum of money which may be deposited with it, the income to be applied for the improvement of any designated lot, or for the repair, preservation, or renewal of any monument, grave-stones, fence, enclosure, or other erection on the lot, or the planting and cultivation of trees, shrubs, and plants, in and about the same. Quite a large number of such deposits have the past year been made with the Corporation, who place them in the Savings Bank and apply the interest as above stated.

BANGOR POLICE COURT.

BEFORE JUDGE GOODENOW.

Monday, April 6th. State vs. Isaac Morse of Veazie; drunkenness, fined $5 and costs and committed in default of payment.

State vs James Hurley; malicious mischief, in kicking in a door on Hancock st Sunday night; fined $10 and costs; appealed.

State vs George Nathan, larceny of rail road tickets from E. & N. A. station at Orono; pleaded guilty and sent to jail for 30 days. Respondent said he was on his way from Biddeford to go up on the river on the drive, when getting drunk he took the tickets, hardly knowing what he did.

State vs Noyes Ames; search and seizure process; fined $50 and costs; appealed.

Respondent was arraigned on another complaint and warrant whereby a seizure was made at his store, (that on which he was fined being a seizure at his house, made at the same time,) but his counsel put in a plea that his keeping liquors in two places, where they were found and seized simultaneously, did not constitute but one offense, and that he could not be convicted and fined twice on the same offense. The Judge reserved his decision and continued the case until Saturday next. City Solicitor Wakefield appeared for the prosecution and J. F. Rawson, Esq., for respondent.

ment to which the committee will undoubtedly agree. That amendment provides that the redemption of national bank notes may be effected in every city where there is a sub-treasury, as well as in New York city. Western members of the committee have discovered that to restrict redemption to New York city would give the New York banks undue special advantages. It is expected a vote will be reached Thursday.

Some correspondent vouches for the truth of the statement that Lord George Gordon, son of the Duke of Argyle, wishing to marry, was referred by his father for consent to his elder brother, the Marquis of Lorne, who referred him to the Queen, who sent him to the Duke of Coburg, the latter referring him to Emperor William, and the decision was finally left to Bismarck. The latter, when made acquainted with the subject, roared out, "Gott in himmel, what a fuss about nothing, let the boy marry whom he pleases so long as she is young and pretty."

The New York Journal of Commerce, one of the few of the daily papers that has discussed the action of the Brooklyn council with an intelligent appreciation of the questions at issue and the result reached, closes an editorial with the following suggestions:

The council took very strong ground (and in the conclusion thus reached there was not a dissenting voice) against the loose notions of the rights and duties of fellowship. They assert with great directness and emphasis the fundamental truth that the freedom of each church, when the obligations growing out of it are recognized, is the strongest safeguard against the tendency to heresy in doctrine, laxity in discipline, and departures from the established standards of faith and order. The rule is not that each church is free and may therefore hold all other churches in fellowship with it, while it brings a scandal on the common name; but that this individual freedom implies the right in each to call other churches to account when they need admonition, and to withdraw from fellowship and responsible church relations when the admonition is wholly disregarded. Throughout the whole country, but especially in the West and Northwest, this clear and vigorous utterance of principles held sacred by the order thus associated, and to be maintained by excluding from the name and connection all who openly and wantonly violate them, will give fresh courage and hope to those who are laboring assiduously to establish and build up Congregational churches, and will not be regarded with disfavor by the wise and good of all other denominations. If any of our brethren of the press have [illegible] the action of the council, or belittled its constitution and action, it is, we are persuaded, because they have not fully understood the object of the gathering, or the important bearing the result will have on the future of that denomination in this country and throughout the world.

LETTER FROM REV. JOHN McMURRAY. JAMES I. FELLOWS, Esq.—Dear Sir: I have recently heard from an invalid of the great benefit derived from your Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, and having in my other instances marked the most beneficial results from its use, I cannot but regard its discovery as a matter of devout thankfulness to a benign Providence.

I have also recommended it to others and invariably found it to be of essential benefit in those complaints for which it is especially recommended.

In bronchial and other chest affections, in arresting incipient consumption, and in lessening the distressing symptoms of this disease in its hopeless stages, as well as in cases of nervous debility, in giving tone to the system, it is undoubtedly a valuable remedy.

I am dear sir yours truly,

LOVE

[illegible] is not made of kisses, or of sighs
Or singing bands or of the sorceries
And subtle witchcrafts of alluring eyes

Love is not made of broken whispers, no!
Nor of the blushing cheek whose answering glow
Tells that the ear has heard the accents low

Love is not made of tears, nor yet of smiles
Of [illegible] or of cunning wiles
[illegible] himself beguiles

This is Love's language, but this is not Love

If we know aught of Love, how shall we dare—
[illegible]
Tho' these are common things and Love is rare

As separate streams may, blending, ever roll
In course united [illegible] of soul to soul,
Love is the union into one sweet whole.

As molten metals mingle, as a chord
Swells sweet in harmony, when Love is lord,
Two hearts are one, as letters from a word

One heart, one mind, one soul and one desire,
A kindred fancy, [illegible] a sister fire
Of thought and passion, these can Love inspire

This makes heaven of earth, for this is Love!

GENTLE WOMAN AROUSED

A STORY OF THE TEMPERANCE MOVEMENT

"I think such action is unlady-like, unwomanly, and altogether wrong," said Mrs Elliott warmly "The idea of women marching in bands through the streets, followed by a rabble of rude men and boys—the idea of refined ladies forcing their way into some filthy bar room, full of obscene, guzzling ill-omened looking loafers, and kneeling on the tobacco-stained floor in audible prayer. Must woman unsex herself and brave the most disgusting phase of public city? Must the pearls of religious feeling, even the most sacred form of prayer, be cast before the swine that infest these low dens?"

The speaker was a young and very pretty lady, who had lived in our town about a year. Her husband was a Western man, one who had grown up in our city He was well connected, of recognized ability as a lawyer, and with a future before him of the fairest promise It had occasionally been whispered that he drank rather freely, but no one had ever seen him the worse for it. Of late he spent his evenings out more frequently, excusing his absence by saying that there were parties that could be seen in the way of business better at night than during the day

Mrs. Judge Ashman another intimate friend was with us Her only immediate response to Mrs Elliott's words was a sigh At last she said

The evil grows so desperate I can scarcely wonder at any effort to counteract it, though I must say with you that I can scarcely understand this one I do not see how a lady can go to such places as you describe, I suppose, only too truly But the trouble is, the worst mischief is not done at these 'dens' Many of our drinking saloons are elegant in all their appointments, and are frequented by gentlemen"

"No matter," answered Mrs Elliott, almost [illegible] womanly delicacy forbids that she should go to such a place. They are frequented by rouès and gamblers also who differ from the ragged loafers only in being better dressed In each case she is liable to insult, and tossed and hear things which to a pure refined woman, are worse than blows I had rather meet the coarse brutality of the one than the contemptuous leers and biting smiles of the gilded saloons"

"The early shadows of the coming winter evening soon after warned Mrs Ashman that she must be on her way homeward [illegible] request I remained to tea.

Her husband came in at the usual hour I do not wonder he half idolized the handsome dark-eyed man, with his free and easy Western bearing refined by Eastern culture After the meal was over he immediately excused himself

"Must you go out again this evening, Vinton" asked his wife pleadingly

"Indeed I must, Nellie It's court week, you know. There are many lawyers in town, and I have much on hand"

I heard her kiss him affectionately at the door as he departed and thought it must be a stress of business, indeed, that would take a man from such a wife, but surely that kiss would be protection against every evil spell

I did not offer to stay later than ten for by so doing I might betray somewhat the anxiety and boding of ill that oppressed me. My sitting room was opposite her parlor, where I knew she would watch and wait. After lighting the gas I did not draw the curtains but sat down with my knitting where she could see me, and so practically watched and waited with her

When from a city steeple eleven was tolled, my neighbor grew restless When with solemn measured stroke midnight was announced, I heard her side door open and her quick steps on the gravel I met her at the door

"Dear Mrs M——," she exclaimed, breathlessly, "how good of you to be up! I half believe you have been watching with me, Vinton has not come home yet What does it mean? He never stayed out so late before" She was shivering with cold, but it was the chill of fear I put my arms around her and said

"Let us hope for the best, my dear, if you wish I will come and stay with you"

Please do" she half sobbed, and then hastened back, as if unwilling to be absent from her post a moment I was soon at her side, and with her hand (which trembled and fluttered like frightened bird) in mine we sat silently through another long hour until finally the door bell rang She flew to open it

Her husband stumbled in and would have fallen but she not caught him. It was a pitiable sight to see him leaning upon and clinging to her frail and trembling form as if she were a lamp-post. As the light streamed through the door, I caught a glimpse of the glitter of a policeman's star, and then heard his gruff voice

"Glad you're up, madam He needs looking after, sure enough! If it hadn't been for me he might have met a foul death, for I found him in the gutter this raw night"

True enough he was reeking with the filth of the street, and besmearing the delicate fabric of the wife's dress as he clung to her, in that she would soon be agonized over deeper more loathsome stains

"It's a lie!" hiccoughed her husband, in tones so different from his usual clear, manly voice, "I was in a feather bed"

"O God!" what's the matter with him?" gasped the wife.

"Well, ma'am, you are innocent," said the policeman in a not unkindly tone, "I'm sorry for you but you don't know he's drunk?" I'll stay a bit and help you with him, if you wish

At the word "drunk" she tottered a moment, as if she would fall, then by a great effort recovering herself, said hoarsely

"No, no, go away, I will take care of him Stay let me thank you for bringing him home, but in the name of mercy do not tell any one what you have seen.

The man made no promise, as he departed and I shut the door

"Mrs M——, I am even sorry you are here. I would hide this from all the world Would that I could hide it from heaven. But I know I can trust you What shall I do with him?"

This horrid, unexpected scene at the door had found us both too bewildered to act, and for a moment longer we looked helplessly at each other.

Then her husband muttered, "What's the use standing here?" and staggered into the parlor

Near the door stood a dainty little table with Mrs Elliott's bridal wreath and bouquet upon it, encased in a glass cover. He stumbled against this and fell with it crashing to the floor The warmth of the room with the excess of liquor that he had drank now produced nausea, and sickening to behold, the flowers that had crowned his bride's brow were now fouled literally, even as his action had stained her fair, pure name.

It was awful—it was horrible, even to me, beyond the power of words to express—to see that proud, refined gentleman groveling helplessly, like a vile beast in his own filth, in that sweet little parlor, that dainty casket of his priceless jewel. But what must it have been to his wife?

As soon as she could, she took his head in her lap and said in a low, firm voice

"Vinton, how did it happen? Tell me all"

"Nothing much s happened," he hiccoughed. "Met some friends at Harry Hill's—took little too much—that's all"

"Harry Hill's, Harry Hill's," she muttered, as if some new light was dawning upon her.

She got him to bed, and he fell into a heavy stupor. As she returned to me in the dining room, where there was a fire, I said:

"I will not leave you to-night"

She thanked me by a silent pressure of my hand, and we sat down to watch together as before, but with the awful certainty of evil instead of its expectation. At last she asked suddenly:

"Where is this Harry Hill's?"

I told her.

Morning came after a seeming age. We had cleansed and righted the parlor as well as we could. The cook got breakfast, as usual, and was told that her master was sick. I tried to anticipate Mrs Elliott in obtaining the morning paper from the newsboy, but she was too quick for me. With dilating eyes she scanned the columns, then, with a cry of anguish, dropped the paper.

"Oh, leave it alone!" I cried "You've had more than you can endure now"

"I am not a child!" she answered, almost fiercely. "I intend to know and face the worst of this matter," and with a white, stern face she read every word, and then sat for a few moments with the old thoughtful contraction of brow. Suddenly she started up with a look of fixed purpose and said:

"Come with me"

"Where?"

"To Mrs Judge Ashman's"

The judge's family was just sitting down to breakfast when we arrived.

"Why, Mrs. Elliott, and Mrs. M——, too" exclaimed that good lady, in unfeigned surprise. "What is the matter? Surely, this is not a social call"

"No," said Mrs Elliott impetuously, "It is not. Mrs. Ashman, I take back all I said about ladies going to liquor saloons, in order to break them up if they can I am going to Harry Hill's to-day, if I go alone He about the same as murdered my husband last night," and she briefly told her story "I am going there this very morning," she continued. "He must resist a wife's prayers and wife's curses if he sells my husband one drop more. Will you go with me?"

The Judge joined us from the dining room, and remonstrated:

"Really, Mrs. Elliott, I greatly sympathize with you, but I hope you will do nothing rash. You will only expose yourself to insult, and accomplish nothing. Perhaps you may obtain some legal redress"

With a dignity and impressiveness which even he had never possessed upon the bench, the aroused wife silenced him with a gesture.

"You are not equal to this matter, Judge Ashman," she said, "nor are your legal forms. During the past night I have seen my own grave open, and in it buried life, youth, happiness. What is far worse, I have seen the yawning grave of my husband, and I know it to be the mouth of hell. And do you ask me to go to law about such matters? Harry Hill and his kind are digging these graves, I never realized it before Surely he does not Unless he is a fiend, he will cease the vile traffic when I tell him the truth I tell you I will go, if I go alone"

"George," cried Mrs. Ashman, in a voice of anguish, "how often has your own son been drunk at that same Harry Hill's?"

The judge turned pale and abruptly left the room

"You shall not go alone" continued Mrs Ashman, sobbing on Mrs. Elliot's shoulder, "a score of women that I know of, smitten by this terrible curse, will go with you, if you will lead the way Some are rich and some are poor, but we all have common ground in this matter I will send them word"

TREATY between the United States of America and the Republic of Ecuador Extradition Concluded June 28, 1872. Ratification advised by Senate January 6 1873 Ratified by President January 10, 1873 Ratified by President of Ecuador November 12, 1873 Ratifications exchanged at Quito November 12, 1873. Proclaimed December 24, 1873

By the President of the United States of America.
A PROCLAMATION.

Whereas, a treaty for the mutual extradition of criminals, fugitives from justice, between the United States of America and the Republic of Ecuador, was concluded and signed by their respective Plenipotentiaries at Quito on the twenty-eight day of June, eighteen hundred and seventy two, which treaty, being in the English and Spanish languages, is word for word as follows.

Extradition treaty between the United States of America and the Republic of Ecuador.

The United States of America and the Republic of Ecuador, having deemed it conducive to the better administration of justice and the prevention of crime within their respective territories that all persons convicted of or accused of the crimes enumerated below, being fugitives from justice, shall be, under certain circumstances, reciprocally delivered up, have resolved to conclude a treaty upon the subject, and the President of the United States has for this purpose named Rumsey Wing, a citizen of the United States, and their Minister-Resident in Ecuador, as Plenipotentiary on the part of the United States, and the President of Ecuador has named Francisco Javier Leon, Minister of the Interior and of Foreign Affairs, as Plenipotentiary on the part of Ecuador; who, having reciprocally communicated their full powers, and the same having been found in good and due form, have agreed upon the following articles, viz:

ARTICLE 1.

The Government of the United States and the Government of Ecuador mutually agree to deliver up such persons as may have been convicted of or may be accused of the crimes set forth in the following article, committed within the jurisdiction of one of the contracting parties, and who may have sought refuge or be found within the territory of the other; it being understood that this is only to be done when the criminality shall be proved in such manner that, according to the laws of the country where the fugitive or accused may be found, such persons might be lawfully arrested and tried had the crime been committed within its jurisdiction

ARTICLE 2.

Persons convicted of or accused of any of the following crimes shall be delivered up, in accordance with the provisions of this treaty:

1st. Murder, including assassination, parricide, infanticide, and poisoning.

[illegible]

4th. The crime of forgery, which is understood to be the wilful use or circulation of forged papers or public documents.

5th. The fabrication or circulation of counterfeit money, either coin or paper, of public bonds, bank-bills and securities, and in general of any kind of titles to or instruments of credit, the counterfeiting of stamps, dies, seals, and marks of the state and of the administrative authorities, and the sale or circulation thereof.

6th. Embezzlement of public property, committed within the jurisdiction of either party, by public officers or depositaries.

ARTICLE 3.

The stipulations of this treaty shall not be applicable to crimes or offences of a political character, and the person delivered up, charged with the crimes in the foregoing article, shall not be prosecuted for any crime committed previously to that for which his or their extradition may be asked.

ARTICLE 4.

If the person whose extradition may have been applied for, in accordance with the stipulations of the present treaty, shall have been arrested for offences committed in the country where he has sought refuge, or if he shall have been sentenced therefor, his extradition may be deferred until his acquittal, or the expiration of the term for which he shall have been sentenced

ARTICLE 5

Requisitions for the extradition of fugitives from justice shall be made by the respective diplomatic agents of the contracting parties, or in case of the absence of these from the country or its capital, they may be made by superior consular officers. If the person whose extradition is asked for shall have been convicted of a crime, the requisition must be accompanied by a copy of the sentence of the court that has convicted him, authenticated under its seal, and an attestation of the official character of the judge who has signed it, made by the proper executive authority, also by an authentication of the latter by the Minister or Consul of the United States of Ecuador, respectively. On the contrary, however, when the fugitive is merely charged with crime, a duly authenticated copy of the warrant for his arrest in the country where the crime has been committed, and of any evidence in writing upon which such warrant may have been issued, must accompany the aforesaid requisition. The President of the United States, or the proper executive authority of Ecuador, may then order the arrest of the fugitive, in order that he may be brought before the judicial authority which is competent to examine the question of extradition. If, then, according to the evidence and the law, it be decided that the extradition is due in conformity with this treaty, the fugitive shall be delivered up, according to the forms prescribed in such cases

ARTICLE 6.

The expenses of the arrest, detention and transportation of persons claimed shall be paid by the Government in whose name the requisition shall have been made

ARTICLE 7

This treaty shall continue in force for ten (10) years from the day of the exchange of ratifications, but in case neither party shall have given to the other one (1) year's previous notice of its intention to terminate the same, then this treaty shall continue in force for ten (10) years longer, and so on.

The present treaty shall be ratified, and the ratifications exchanged in the capital of Ecuador, within two months from the day on which the session of the coming Congress of Ecuador shall terminate, which will be in October, 1873

In testimony whereof the respective Plenipotentiaries have signed the present treaty in duplicate, and have hereunto affixed their seals

Done in the city of Quito, capital of the Republic of Ecuador, this twenty-eighth day of June, one thousand eight hundred and seventy two.

[SEAL] RUMSEY WING
[SEAL] FRANCISCO JAVIER LEON

And whereas the said treaty has been duly ratified on both parts, and the respective ratifications were exchanged at Quito, on the 12th of November last.

Now, therefore, be it known that I, Ulysses S Grant, President of the United States of America, have caused the said treaty to be made public, to the end that the same and every clause and article thereof may be observed and fulfilled with good faith by the United States and the citizens thereof

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed

Done in the city of Washington this twenty-fourth day of December, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy three, and of the Independence of the United States of America the ninety-eighth.

ADDITIONAL ARTICLES OF AGREEMENT between the Post Department of the United States of America and the Post Department of the German Empire, establishing an exchange of Postal Cards between the two countries.

ARTICLE 1.

For the purpose of providing additional facilities of mail communication between the United States of America and the German Empire, it is hereby mutually agreed that United States postal cards mailed at any post-office in the United States and addressed to Germany, and German postal-cards mailed at any post office in Germany and addressed to the United States, on which shall have been fully prepaid to destination, at the rate hereinafter stated, can henceforth be exchanged between the inhabitants of the United States and of Germany But unpaid or insufficiently paid postal cards will not be forwarded in the mails between the two countries

ARTICLE 2.

Postal cards shall be forwarded exclusively by means of such direct steamers as sail from time to time be employed in the transportation of the direct German-American mails Each of the two post departments shall pay the entire expenses of the sea transport for the postal cards which are sent from its territory.

For the purposes of this article, the charge for the sea transportation across the Atlantic of the postal cards sent by direct steamers from the United States to Germany, is fixed at one cent (avoirdupois) net weight.

ARTICLE 3.

The postage on postal cards in each direction is fixed as follows

1 At 2 cents when sent from the United States of America.

2. At 1 silbergroschen when sent from Germany

Prepayment thereof to be made by affixing to each United States postal card an additional one-cent postage stamp in addition to the stamp printed or impressed on the card.

Each department shall retain to its exclusive use the postage which it collects, at the prescribed rate, on the postal cards sent from its territory.

ARTICLE 4.

The regulations and instructions governing the use and treatment of postal cards in the domestic mails of the United States and of Germany, respectively, shall apply equally to those mailed in either country and addressed to the other country.

ARTICLE 5.

The regulations in the foregoing articles shall, in like manner, apply to the postal cards which are exchanged, through the medium of the German mails, between the United States on the one side, and the Empire of Austria-Hungary and the Grand Duchy of Luxemburg on the other.

ARTICLE 6.

This agreement shall go into effect on the 1st of December, 1873, and shall be of equal duration with the postal convention of 21st October, 1867, and with the additional conventions thereto

Done in duplicate and signed at Washington the 13th November, 1873, and in Berlin the 31st October, 1873.

Convention between the United States of America and Denmark Naturalization Concluded July 20, 1872, Ratified January 22, 1873, Ratifications exchanged March 14, 1873, Proclaimed April 15, 1873.

By the President of the United States of America
A PROCLAMATION

Whereas a convention between the United States of America and His Majesty the King of Denmark, relative to the naturalization of citizens and subjects of the two countries, was concluded and signed at Copenhagen by their respective plenipotentiaries on the twentieth day of July, 1872, the original of which convention, being in the English and Danish languages, is word for word as follows

The United States of America and His Majesty the King of Denmark being desirous to regulate the citizenship of the citizens of the United States of America who have emigrated, or who may emigrate, from the United States of America to the Kingdom of Denmark, and of Danish subjects who have emigrated, or who may emigrate, from the Kingdom of Denmark to the United States of America, have resolved to conclude a convention for that purpose, and have named as their plenipotentiaries, that is to say, the President of the United States of America Michael J. Cramer, minister resident of the United States of America at Copenhagen, and His Majesty the King of Denmark Otto Ditlev Baron Rosenorn-Lehn, commander of Danebrog and Danebrogsmand, chamberlain, His Majesty's minister for foreign affairs, &c., &c., &c

Who, after having communicated to each other their respective full powers found to be, in good and due form, having agreed upon and concluded the following articles, to wit:

ARTICLE I.

Citizens of the United States of America who have become, or shall become, and are, naturalized, according to law, within the Kingdom of Denmark as Danish subjects, shall be held by the United States of America to be in all respects and for all purposes Danish subjects, and shall be treated as such by the United States of America.

In like manner, Danish subjects who have become or shall become, and are naturalized, according to law, within the United States of America as citizens thereof, shall be held by the Kingdom of Denmark to be in all respects and for all purposes as citizens of the United States of America, and shall be treated as such by the Kingdom of Denmark.

ARTICLE II.

If any such citizen of the United States, as aforesaid, naturalized within the Kingdom of Denmark as a Danish subject, should renew his residence in the United States, the United States government may, on his application, and on such conditions as that government may see fit to impose, readmit him to the character and privileges of a citizen of the United States, and the Danish government shall not, in that case, claim him as a Danish subject on account of his former naturalization.

In like manner, if any such Danish subject, as aforesaid, naturalized within the United States as a citizen thereof, should renew his residence within the Kingdom of Denmark, His Majesty's government may, on his application, and on such conditions as that government may think fit to impose, readmit him to the character and privileges of a Danish subject, and the United States government shall not, in that case, claim him as a citizen of the United States on account of his former naturalization.

It cures their Colds and makes them well,
And mothers seek the store to try it,
With hundreds who desire to buy it.

It is Pleasant to Take.

And Works Like a Charm.

BOSTON, August 27th, 1873.

F. W. Kinsman, Esq.—Dear Sir —With pleasure we order five gross Adamsons's Botanic Cough Balsam—the sale has commenced very shrewly, showing conclusively that the merit has won the day and that your preparation is taking the lead over the many bottles of trash that now flood the market.

From G. C Goodwin & Co., New England Patent Medicine Warehouse, 38 Hanover St., Boston, May 4th, 1873.

Mr. F. W. Kinsman.—Dear Sir.—We have had in all about 25 gross Adamson's Balsam, and have retailed nearly 40 dozen of it over our retail counter. Parties have been in and bought it the second time, and all pronounce it one of the best medicines in the market for coughs and colds. Some of our men have used it and say it is the best remedy they have tried.
